

Dear Judge F. M. M.

2/10/22

I am writing to you with this portable pencil because I cannot BOP policy and budgets right now so I have to possess a pen. I can't write a laptop all together. I can't write a laptop all together.

In response to the call to the laptop and DVD drives showing that I am not allowed to make photos and print documents on the laptop. I still acknowledge photos and have been in a room where I see that I see the print border NDC to finish play when my laptop I provide it to me daily as they have always been before.

We now reach an impasse for my self-representation. The question before the Court is whether I have a right to use a laptop in my defense — just as all prison defendants are granted instant release before trial. If so, how can I transfer my work from the laptop to a smaller device expected by the Court superior to that of a smartphone? Does not this sound like I would establish a manifest and palpable fact I cannot do a job. Since I cannot write more pages due to my disability, I now have no way in the hands of the prison. Accordingly, if the Court does not allow my use of the laptop, then I am in legal jeopardy.

May 1968
L. A. 100